You can enter new streets, towns, cities, landmarks, events, companies, brands, movies, and more. Of course, you'll be able to pull in your own local data, too, such as bus lines, driving directions and even credit card logos. You can select things like "See more" for this. To enable the feature, open Google Earth, tap the globe in the upper-right corner and make sure the option Enable the Google Earth window is on in the Settings menu. You can import entire folders of mapping data from MS Excel into Google Earth, and then export Google Earth files to MS Excel to re-use the
